

URBAN HEALTH

Leiden European City of Science 2022, in collaboration with the New European Bauhaus initiative of the European Commission and the Urban Health Campus Almere Leiden, presents a programme entitled 'Urban Health' on Thursday, the 13th of October 2022.

The multidimensionality of health in an urban environment serves as lead of the day. Urban health will, therefore, be presented in a context of, environment, inclusiveness and business. The dimensions of urban health will be explored by way of, (i) academic brainstorming, (ii) turning academic ideas in applied research, (iii) and implementation of scientific knowledge in daily practice. We will invite participants to share their own views on urban health. All-together, we will arrive at a multi-faceted view on health in an urban environment.

VENUE

Leiden Stadbauhaus, Lange Gracht 72, Leiden

PROGRAMME

9.00 Registration, coffee and tea

9.30 Introduction by Roosmarijn van de Velde
Chief New European Bauhaus Leiden

9.45 Session I, moderator Roosmarijn van de Velde

Roy Remme, Centre of Environmental Sciences, University of Leiden
Health benefits of urban nature

Marco Roos, Naturalis Biodiversity Centre
Healthy biodiversity and rewilding cities

Hans Slabbekoorn, Institute of Biology, University of Leiden
Urban soundscapes: health issues for animals and humans

11.00 Energiser and coffee break

11.15 Session II, moderator Roosmarijn van de Velde

Eva Lems, Aeres University of Applied Sciences
Healthy behaviour in the living environment

Iris Otto, Gezond Kompas
Sustainable health in an urban environment

12.00 Energiser and intro lunch task

12.15 Lunch task and lunch.

13.30 Session III, moderator Miriam Frantzen

Anna Bornioli, Erasmus,
Making cities healthier by transport and urban policies

Fonz Dekkers, Water Authority of Rijnland
Urban metabolism of water and energy

14.15 Presentation lunch task by Iris Otto and Roosmarijn van de Velde

14.45 Session IV, moderator Miriam Frantzen

Bas Waterdrinker, BPD Gebiedsontwikkeling
The case of Energiepark

Raoul Becher, Starters4Communities
Grassroots impact entrepreneurship

15.30 Side presentations (posters, stands), chats with lecturers.

16.00 Drinks